Welcome to Trier

By Jupiter, you can't visit Trier in such an off-hand way!

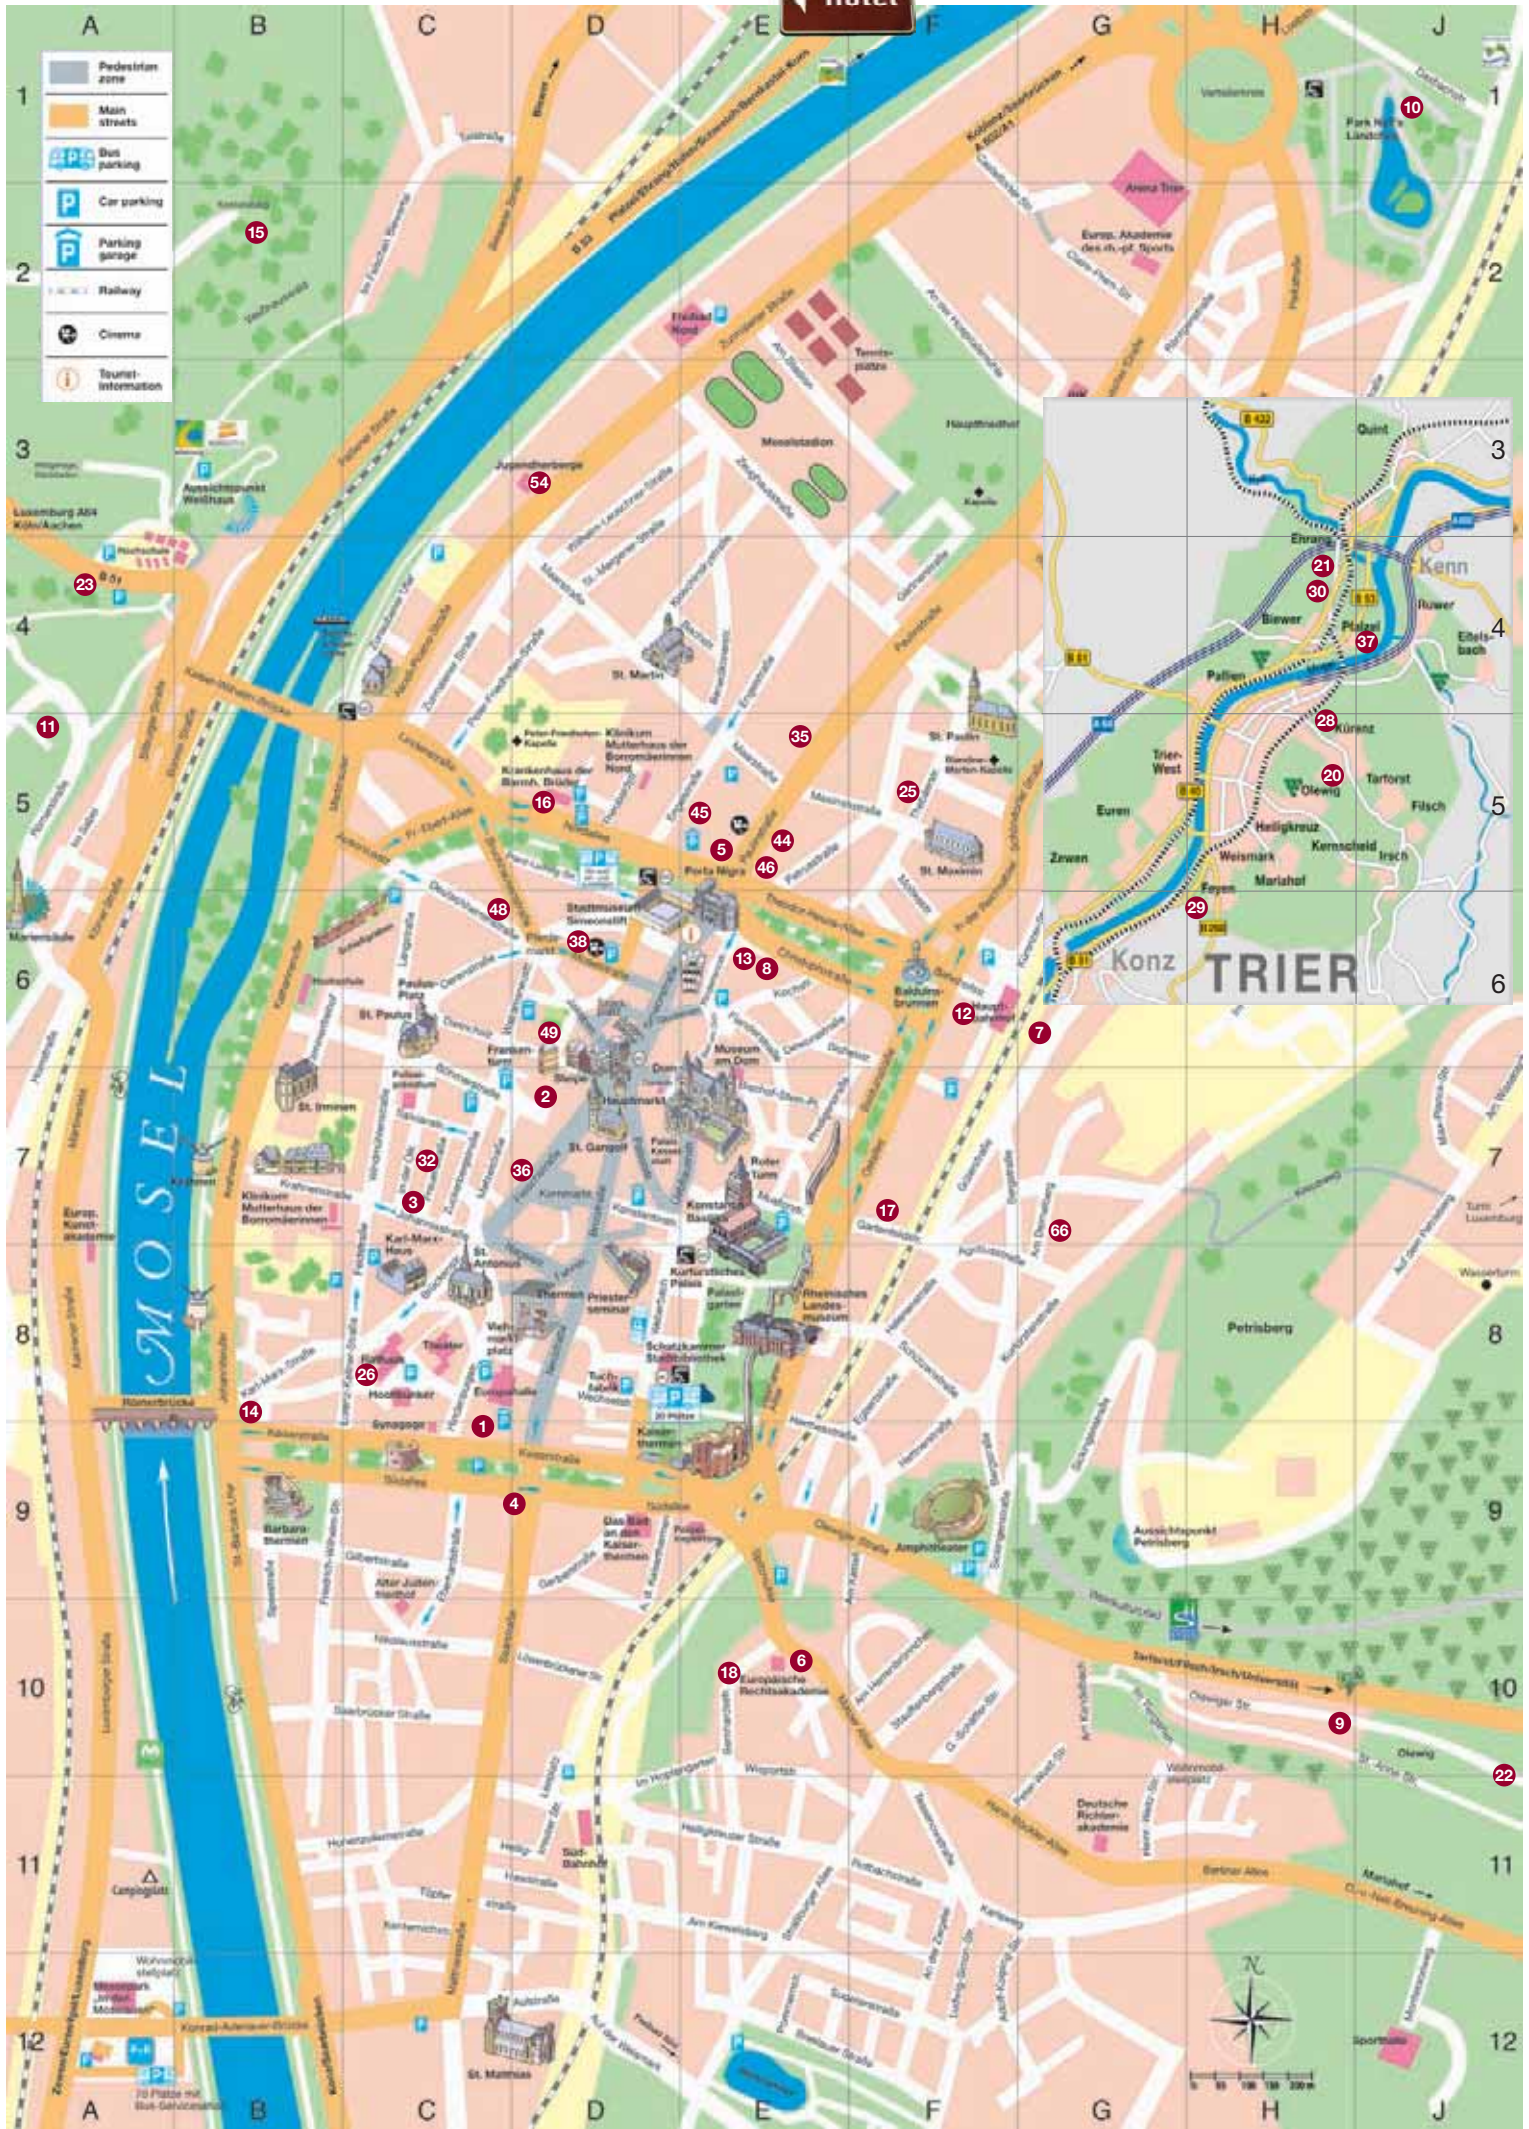

No, in Trier you go with a genuine centurion up the towers of the Porta Nigra, with a monk as a Devil's exorcist through the dark alleys, or with a real Roman in toga to the oldest bishop's church in Germany. In the museums you can become acquainted with the most diverse personages: Roman chariot drivers and medieval hermits, baroque electoral princes, the strongest man in the world, Napoleon, and Karl Marx. On a romantic boat excursion you can discover the Moselle or undertake a richly varied cycling or hiking tour through the distinctive landscapes and rock formations of the Eifel and Hunsrück mountains. And, after all that, you can return to a cozy wine tavern, gourmet restaurants or restaurants of long tradition in an old fishermen's village.

It's no matter whether you come as a single, with the family, in a group, or with friends – our manifold packages will turn your stay in Trier into an amazing experience. We are only too pleased to assist you with your travel plans and will make up a completely individual program tailored just for you. Contact us at any time because as we say:

Nosce te ipsum et carpe diem –
Know yourself and seize the day!

Centre of Antiquity

Those looking closely can recognize them: the centuries-old graffiti of Roman stonemasons; the millimetre-fine joints between tiny small mosaic stones; the imprints of Roman compasses, the noble facial expressions of rich cloth handlers and the remnants of colour and plaster with imperial magnificence.

Those listening carefully can perceive them: the heavy footsteps of soldiers' leather boots on the battlements built of sandstone; the distant rowing noises of a widely-travelled wine ship; the whistling sounds of the wind in the catacombs of the Imperial Thermal Baths, the drops in the damp cellar of the Amphitheatre, and the gladiators fighting for life and death, exhausted and panting.

And yes, those sniffing deeply can even smell them in Trier: the incense of a 1,700 year old meeting place; the fear of animals and humans in the former cages on the periphery of the Roman Arena; the inebriating scent of handmade bath essences, the moss-grown basalt of the Roman bridge piers, the smoke of the underground floor heating.

Those opening up with all their senses can experience Trier's antique life in all its variety and abundance, its colours and forms. A journey through time, which propels the lifestyle of a Roman imperial city into the modern age and which, in eye-catching visualisations and performances, brings you within grasp the life of previous generations: visible, audible and above all palpable.

Active on the Moselle

In Trier everything has always been linked to the river - and around it. The Roman poet Ausonius already knew it: the Moselle River with its typical meanders, in which are reflected different rock formations and vineyards, is something very special. Surrounded by hiking paths and wide river embankments, topped by red sandstone cliffs and wine-covered slate slopes, you glide gently on the glittering floods of the three-country river, under the 1,800-year-old basalt pillars of the Roman Bridge, you wave the Mariensäule towering high above the water level, or you go on exciting excursions through the Moselle region.

No matter whether you are travelling by ship, by car, by train, by bike or on foot, Trier is always the perfect point of departure for an adventure trip in terms of wine, gastronomy and culture. Dozens of small winegrowers, vinothèques and wine taverns, award-winning cuisine and traditional regional cooking, Roman festivals and castle romanticism: with three premium long-distance hiking trails, four premium cycle routes and a perfect connection to Luxembourg, France and Belgium, some memorable and exciting active adventures are only a few kilometres away from the river.

Back in Trier, it is up to you how you end the day: on exciting guided tours through the former imperial metropolis, on a leisurely wine tasting at an original wine cellar in the typical vintners' village Oewig or with a gourmet cruise on the Moselle? One thing is sure: the next experience is waiting for you!

Museums

Great thinkers and golden treasures, ancient splendour and baroque luxuriance, works of art dating back from 1800 engraved in stone, painted on beautiful vellum or decorated with precious stones: self-restraint is difficult while describing the treasures that are exhibited in the Trier Museums. And so we can say in all modesty: a visit is a must!

Guided Tours

Our „Classics“ give you a compact overview of the great history and the unique sights of Trier. Our guides delight not only with their qualified knowledge, but also with their entertaining nature.

Our adenture performances will catapult you back into the past and transform the whole city into a stage: For each tour there is a screenplay of its own, which is staged for you by professional actors.

The campsite is like a park yet centrally located & quiet on the banks of the Moselle. The Moselle Cycling Trail leads directly along the campsite. Trier's historical Old City is only a 20- to 30-min. walk; also a bus to downtown.

The campsite includes sanitary facilities & a site for tents. The sanitary facilities are disabled accessible on the ground floor. The campsite has 80 spaces, including power connections. The tent area is in a small grove of trees, where it is pleasantly shady in the summer.
